

RED FLAGS

You Shouldn't Ignore

Let's face it, your relationship with your online ordering provider might not be what it used to be. Maybe it started off promising, but now you're left wondering if they deserve you. If you're constantly frustrated, doing all the heavy lifting, or struggling to grow together, it's not you. It's them.

Here are the biggest red flags that signal it's time to break up with your current vendor and find a partner who actually meets your needs.

- They're Draining Your Wallet
When the relationship is costing you more than it's worth, with high upfront costs, subscription fees, and extra charges, and you're not seeing the benefits, it's time to reconsider if they're worth the investment. Time to find someone who provides value without breaking the bank!
- They Don't Value Your Time
When you spend hours updating menus, pricing, and managing third party marketplaces and it feels like pulling teeth due to a clunky interface, leading to downtime and frustration, it's a clear sign you deserve better. Time to find someone who makes life easier and more efficient!
- They Won't Let You Be Independent
When you can't make quick adjustments without their help, stifling your flexibility and responsiveness, it's time to seek a partner who empowers you to take control. Time to find someone who lets you be the boss!
- They're Not Supportive
On paper they check all the boxes. But it feels old fashioned and rigid IRL. Like maybe they are built for an era that is ending. You've tried talking about your evolving needs, but they aren't open to input. Time to find someone who helps you shine and grow!
- They're Not True to Your Brand
If your brand identity isn't reflected in the ordering workflow, causing a disconnect for your guests, it's time to find a vendor who truly understands and represents you. Time to find someone who gets you and showcases your brand perfectly!
- They're Not Syncing with Your Needs
When your online ordering system updates every twelve hours, it works—until it doesn't. They get out of step with you, and so much can go wrong until you can resync. It's a clear sign they're not the right dance partner for your business. Time to find someone who can keep up with your rhythm!
- They Don't Get Along with Your Friends
When your online ordering software can't play nice with your POS systems, third-party delivery services, and loyalty programs, causing chaos and confusion, it's a sign they're not the right match for you. Time to find someone who fits in with your crew!
- They're Always Late
If real-time updates are a distant dream, and you're stuck with manual data entry mistakes and delays, it's time to find someone who values punctuality and accuracy. Time to find someone who respects your time and keeps things running smoothly!
- Their Future is Unclear
Things haven't been going great, and now they're up for sale—and suddenly, your future together feels shaky. If you're unsure what comes next, maybe it's time to find a partner who's building with you, not planning their exit.
